I remember this day; you were excited because you hit a triple. My battery on my camera died so I couldn't catch that moment. We had a long conversation before we arrived to your game about how I started to like baseball just because you did and because I enjoyed watching you play your favorite sport. I love you and you taught me so much. We been through A LOT. We got it together and learned a lot from each other. You never gave up on me and I didn't give up on you. That's why our love was so strong. Save a spot for me. I LOVE YOU!
