“ Eddie, you were and always will be a great, great friend. You were considered one of the family. Thank you for being so dear to us. I will always cherish the memories of when you would stop over for a visit with us. We always had some great laughs when you were around. And all the times you would come out to see me play my guitar at a local club, I can remember the time you asked me why the other band members didn't sing. I told you that they had no teeth and didn't want to open their mouth & you laughed so hard you lost your drink from your mouth! Lol.

Brother Ed, we are going to miss you something terrible. May God keep you always and we will see you again.

Thanks for being a great friend.

“Eddie, my pal for 26 years, you were without a doubt a man of character with a funny touch of sarcasm. You had the most infectious laugh that I have ever heard and your friendship will always be remembered as one of easing me in times of trouble and always making light of a situation in a laughable way. You were the first person I met when I was 18 and just starting out in the work world at Moebius printing company back in 1989. Your sense of humor kept me going in the years that followed and your friendship with my dad was one of jokes and off the wall comments. My dad simply loved you, especially all of the times you would come over ringing the doorbell looking for me and my dad would answer the door and you would shake my dad's hand with the intentions of trying to get his diamond pinkie ring off of his finger, he always found that amusing. You were such a great friend to him, taking time out of your workdays at St. Lukes to visit "pops" as you called him, while he was getting his chemo treatments. I'm gonna truly miss those random, unannounced visits to my house and how you would ring the hell out of my doorbell. From the days of you going to Chicago to see your girlfriend back then, to the stories you would tell me about your family, to me meeting your father and to you making that comment at my dad's funeral luncheon "Man you Italians know how to make some good food", as you humorously rubbed your belly, only you could ease a person's pain at a time like that with a funny comment like that. I will never ever forget you, brother, I will miss you very very much. My most heartfelt condolences go out to the entire Adams family during this time and may you all cherish and keep the memories you have of Eddie in your hearts, and that those memories bring each and everyone of you peace and comfort in the days to come. God Bless you all.

Your friend always,
Joe Perlongo
