Missing you so much I can't hardly write because I would rather be talking to you. I wish I could hear you and Dallas fussing back and forth calling each other those names I won't mention and just being you. I loved you because you were my baby brother. When things were not working out you been my ears. If it was something that you were wrong about I didn't pull any punches with you if you were wrong. You may have tried to cuss me out but, I checked you and you always said you was sorry. You were my brother, son but most of all you were my true friend. You will forever be in my heart.
