JoAnn Mills was born on January 11, 1961 to the union of Joe L. Mills and Rebecca Mills, in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. JoAnn received her formal education from Casimir Pulaski High School in Milwaukee, WI. JoAnn later went on to attend the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa. JoAnn accepted Christ as her Lord and Savior at a young age. She had a boisterous voice that could fill the largest of rooms. JoAnn spent time volunteering at "Tile Convergence Resource Center". She was always first to help and last to leave. She had a heart of gold that impacted many lives. JoAnn lived a fun-filled life with no regrets. She never complained nor explained. She enjoyed dancing, playing cards, traveling, and being "the Boss" of all her siblings. She enjoyed cooking for and spending time with her family. JoJo loved a good family party, especially if it was your birthday, "Yeah. Yeah, Yeah!!!!" To know JoJo was to love her. JoJo was great company. She loved people and people loved her which enabled her to establish many lifelong friendships. In her final days, JoAnn kept a smile and open heart towards all
