Patricia Giles was born on December 5, 1953, in Chicago, Illinois, to proud parents Celestie Smith and Columbus Giles. She graduated in 1971 from Leake Central High School in Carthage, Mississippi. During her school years,

Patricia was very active, participating on the basketball team and proudly serving as a school band majorette.

In her leisure time, Patricia enjoyed watching westerns, sipping on a Pepsi, and indulging in Cheddar & Sour Cream Chips.

A Life Well-Lived

On the morning of February 20, 2026, Patricia Giles was called home by God to receive her angel wings.

Known affectionately as Pat, Patty, or Trich, Patricia was a loving mother, grandmother, sister, and friend. Her kindness and strength touched everyone who knew her. She passed away surrounded by love, leaving behind a legacy of compassion, resilience, and unwavering devotion to her family.

Patricia lived life to the fullest, unapologetically. On weekends, she loved listening to blues, drinking beer, and staying up all night with friends whether partying or chatting on the phone. However, Sundays were sacred; she was unreachable on those days.

Patricia had a warm smile and a generous heart. She found joy in caring for others, whether through her comforting words, infectious laughter, or quiet acts of support. Her love was steady, and her support was unconditional.

The memories she created will forever be treasured by those who were blessed to know her.
