him as "Chief". His favorite saying goes, "Like the guy said."

Robert, also known as "Uncle Governor", enjoyed socializing with his family and had a great love for his wife, sons, and grandchildren. He was truly his family's hero and was always willing to help others. He just kept going and going even when we could tell that he was not feeling his best. However, he bore his burden and leaned on Jesus Christ for strength and mercy. He never complained about anything.
