“ My grandmother was a good person...I think of her everyday...i miss my granny and i cherish every moment we spent together...without u there will be no me...A strong independent well educated young lady...u were always there for me...i'd give a 100 tomorrows to get back july 7th...that was the last day u spoke...Can this b another day I've gone without u here with me...my heart cries out to u...my granny who has been put to sleep permanently...wow only u know wat I've been going through since the day that I've lost u....unable to speak upon the things that I've seen but now all I can do is dream dream about the laughter we've shared the conversations we've held...I know I'm always writing about u but the love I have for u is beyond earth...nothing can take that away from me...I write wat I think not to remember but to show others what I feel about my granny...my angel life on earth ended as well as pain but I know another in heaven has begun on July 9 2011...keep coming to visit me in my dreams although in reality I know ur soul is still here on earth with me...
