What a lady and what a fighter. She was an inspiration of hope, unconditional love and happiness. Her attitude and bravery are like no one I've ever known. I am so thankful to have had her in my life, thankful Jeff and her were so happy together. They weathered the storm of her cancer together, which it made them that much stronger to face death with a positive end. I am sorry that she is no longer with us on earth, but I am relieved she is now without suffering and pain and in Heaven. She said she was going home....she even told us good-bye...even though we may not be ready for those words, there is some relief in them. Its only bye for now, as we will see you again. Love you so much Sharon. Thank you Jeff for all your care and dedication to this beautiful woman, it was a heavy load for 2 people to bear, but you were a team, you both are an inspiration. I pray for you all who have that giant, aching whole in your heart for the loss of Sharon in your life, I feel it too.
