

Dr. Wallace M. Cheatham

October 3, 1945 - October 22, 2021

Wallace McClain Cheatham was born in Cleveland, Tennessee on October 3, 1945, to the union of Martin Luther and Ollie Frances (Simpson) Cheatham. Wallace accepted Christ at an early age. He began playing the piano for his Sunday School at Pleasant Grove M.B.C. and other area churches. His grandmother's employer recognized his musical talent and gave him free piano lessons. Those lessons began with simple melodies and developed into complex compositions. That was the beginning of his life-long love of including music in his life every day.

Wallace received his Bachelor of Science degree from Knoxville College, an HBCU, in Knoxville, Tennessee. He later received a Master of Science Degree from the University of Wisconsin- Milwaukee (UWM). In 1982 he received his PhD from Columbia Pacific University. The prestigious Honorary Degree of Fine Arts was awarded to him in 2002 by the University of Wisconsin- Milwaukee.

Wallace developed his love of travel at Knoxville College when he played with the Concert Choir on tours. He was also a member of Operation Crossroads Africa and spent a summer building homes in Kenya.

Later in life, as a member of the International Consortium for the Music of Africa & Its Diaspora (ICMAD), he lectured and played his own compositions in London, England. During one of his trips, his wife Faye assisted as his soloist when demonstrating his music, and then she later presented it in a full recital at the University of Cambridge in Cambridge, England. He traveled to Beijing, China with (ICMAD) where he was one of the featured lecturers. During this conference, his piano and vocal compositions were performed by his colleagues. His book Dialogues on Opera & the African American Experience and also his compositions have been translated into many languages. His music has been performed all over the world.

For more than three decades, Wallace served as the organist for st. Mark AME Church. He was the pianist for the seven active choirs, played all of the service music, and served wherever he was needed.

He often played for weddings, funerals, and community events. For the last fifteen years, he enjoyed being the organist for Living Hope Presbyterian Church.

Wallace was a member of many organizations: Association Study African American Life and History, National Association of Negro Musicians, Wisconsin Alliance of Composers, American Choral Directors Association, Music Educators National Conference, American Guild of Organists (AGO), R. Nathaniel Dett Club, Knoxville College Alumni Hall of Fame, McDowell Club and phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc.

Wallace, also, relished working with community groups. He was the director of The New Jubilee Community Choir. He directed The New Jubilee Children's Choir and The New Jubilee Youth Chorale. For many years, he worked with the African American Children's Theatre. They all appreciated the time and energy he devoted to enhancing their own talents and love of music.

His love of music extended beyond public performances, lectures, and professional organizations. Teaching was another way that he shared his talents. His teaching career began in the Tennessee Public School System. In 1968 he joined the Racine, Wisconsin Unified School District. It was in 1971 that he was hired by the Milwaukee Public School System and remained here until his retirement in 2003.

When he had leisure time, Wallace enjoyed studying history, watching the news, and reading newspapers.

Watching soap operas was also a favorite past time of his, and he was a wonderful storyteller. Wallace's family and friends will always remember him as the quiet and humble genius who enriched their lives.

Wallace is survived by his devoted wife of fifty years Faye Watson Cheatham; daughters Tosca Cheatham Biles (Wesley) of Dayton, OH, and Kimberly Ann Cheatham of Morrisville, NC; beloved grandsons Grafton McClain and Mason Riley of Dayton, OH; brother Martin Cheatham of Las Vegas, NV; sister Vicki Bolden of Minneapolis MN; Uncle Thomas (Patricia) of Powell, TN; and a host of family, friends, nieces, and nephews.

“ Dr. Cheatham will always be remembered for his musical genius. I remember asking him: Dr Cheatham, what is the best way to perfect sight reading skills? His reply, "sight read everyday." I will always appreciate that. May God comfort his family and cause them to be strengthened through his memory.

“ I remember singing in his groups . I traveled many Saturday mornings to sing in his New Jubilee Community Choir, He was a brilliant musician and humble at the same time , A joy to talk to and be in his company.He was so passionate about rhythms especially difficult ones and would dance them at rehearsals if needed ,so the singers would be able to get them right.

Thoughts and prayers go to the family

“ Dear Faye and Family:

I'm very sorry to hear that Wallace has passed away; may he RIP eternal! Wallace was a wonderful guy, musician, and scholar alike. We have "truly" lost a GEM.

Please know that you and the family are in my prayers, that God will grant each of you peace, comfort, happiness, and joy in the lastly memories of your DEAR Wallace.

We, the members of the R. Nathaniel Dett Club of Music and Allied Arts, are with you this day, and always. Thus, we will continue to honor Wallace in music and spirit for years to come.

The Dett Club's Centennial Celebration and Concert in June of 2022 will be dedicated to Dr. Wallace McClain Cheatham. 1/3 of the concert will feature Wallace's beautiful and well-written compositions that he personally chose before his untimely passing for the centennial.

Love, Peace and Comfort....

Sincerely,

Paul-Martin Bender

“Dr. Cheatham an amazing musician, composer, and mentor in our community. My daughter and many of her friends were his vocal students. He made such an impact on our students especially my daughter Kaprice Maxwell, who has never forgotten him and has continuously credited him for the vocalist and musician she is today. He created an atmosphere for her to explore other genres of music and by doing that she has evolved a passionate love for classical, traditional gospel, and jazz. Thank you Dr. Cheatham, your legacy will continue to flourish for many generations Rest in Peace.

“ I have just become aware of Wallace's passing and upon learning this I am in shock with the news. Wallace and I both commenced our MPS careers at North Division. He was a super person. I had great respect for both Wallace and Faye
I wish to give my condolences to the Cheatham family for their loss.

“ While I didn't know Dr. Cheatham well, he was a regular at our library, Dr. Martin Luther King Branch in Milwaukee Wi. He had been a frequent and smiling presence here for longer than my tenure, and my day always brightened when I saw him come in and said hello. I am aware of his contributions to the world of chorale, opera, and music in general, but I wanted to say that he contributed also to making King a better place to work with his presence here. All of us here who knew him were shocked to learn of his passing.

Our thoughts are with his family.
